THIRD TIME UNLUCKY:
The van landed upside down in the family's back garden

'IMPROVE ROAD TO PREVENT CRASHES'

Family makes safety plea after van smashes into garden

William Mata

A FAMILY is calling for safety measures to be upgraded along a stretch of road after a van crashed into their back garden – the third time it has happened in 17 years.

The white Ford Transit flipped over onto its roof, smashed through the fence at the home of Zoe Harrison and her family in The Briars, Harlow, before demolishing a new shed.

The accident happened on Friday afternoon as the van was travelling down Fern Hill Lane onto Commons Road. It clipped the kerb next to the junction with The Briars.

It is believed the driver of the van ran off after the crash.

Mother-of-three Miss Harrison, 43, said: "It is the third time this has happened. We have lived here since 1996 and it happened in 1999 and 2003.

Man charged with 'abusive tweet' to MP

A HARLOW man has been charged with sending an offensive Twitter message directed at town MP Robert Halfon.

Unemployed Kier Ashby, 21, of Rushes Mead, was charged under the Communications Act 2003 with sending by means of a public electronic communications network a message that was grossly offensive or of an indecent, obscene or menacing character.

Twitter

It relates to a message posted on Twitter on June 23.

Ashby is due to appear at Chelmsford Magistrates' Court on July 13.

Chief Superintendent Sean O'Callaghan, of Essex Police, said: "While people in public office attract comments on social media on a daily basis, the public must expect abusive or offensive messages that relate to violence to be dealt with robustly."

Girls helped attack victim

TWO teenage girls who came to the aid of a woman after she was assaulted in Harlow are being urged to contact police.

The victim, who is in her 20s, was walking through Passmore Fields, off Willowfield, shortly before 10pm on Friday when she was approached by a man who then assaulted her.

Detectives investigating the incident have not given details of the attack but described it as a "serious" assault and have appealed for two girls who went to the aid of the victim to contact them.

The suspect is described as white, of stocky build and about 6ft tall. The victim said he had a chubby face with stubble and bushy eyebrows and was wearing a dark hooded top.

FARE PLAY: Louie Spence outside Metro Cars premises in The Stow, Harlow

TV's Louie in the driving seat for new Sky 1 show

COLOURFUL television personality Louie Spence has been taken on as a cab driver for Harlow-based Metro Cars for a week's trial.

In his new Sky 1 show Louie Spence: Taxi Driver, which starts at 10pm on Saturday, Louie can be seen driving around the town at the wheel of a mini cab.

According to the show, the reason for the sudden change of career is that five years after his appearance in Pineapple Dance Studios he has found bookings have dried up, leaving him in need of another source of employment.

To prepare for the show, Louie completed a genuine mini cab driving test and got himself a private operator's license before being offered a job at Metro Cars.

The show features Louie picking up and dropping off customers, sometimes following them on to their jobs, nights out or events – including football training at Harlow Town FC, taking part in an amateur wrestling tournament and performing at a retirement home.

A spokesman for the show, which was filmed in February, said: "Add in to this the potential for the odd celebrity passenger, a tempestuous and often flirtatious relationship with a radio dispatch operator and the day-to-day shenanigans of a real-life cab office and you've got a recipe for a joyous and fun mix of real-world actuality and Louie's traditional breakout happening."

Danger! Mum puts up spider warning signs

Safety concern after hundreds of false widows hatch from hidden nest

Ken Morley

star@hertsexnews.co.uk

A WORRIED mum took matters into her own hands after her appeal for help to tackle an infestation of false widow spiders in Old Harlow fell on deaf ears.

Toni Trevillion put up a sign warning parents not to let their children touch the wall in High Street where thousands of spiders have hatched from a hidden nest.

"We first noticed them earlier in the week outside on the streets but the wet weather has brought them inside," said mum-of-three Toni. "They're running around mine and my neighbours' houses and constantly growing in numbers."

"It's worrying as a parent that my children could be bitten by them. Children have been seriously ill in the past from false widow bites."

A bite from a false widow, which has distinctive cream markings on its body and is brown with reddish-orange legs, is not fatal but can cause chest pain, swelling and nausea.

Toni added: "I'm doing everything I can to stop them, using ant killer to destroy them as I've been advised by environmental health but it's a much bigger problem. We need some real help as it's getting out of hand."

She contacted Harlow Council but was told it did not provide a service to get rid of the spiders so she put up signs around the area warning people of the problem.

The sign reads: "Confirmed false widow nest. Running along the entire building. Harlow Council aware, not willing to treat. Please do not let your children touch the wall."

A council spokesman said: "Where we have reports of false widow spiders we ask residents to safely collect a sample in a sealed container so we can arrange a test and carry out further research.

"Like many councils we don't offer a treatment service for controlling spiders but we will always help where we can and offer advice and guidance to residents."

Chunky chap in need of some special care and attention

WE have had a very busy few weeks at the RSPCA during which Bruce came into our care as his owners were no longer able to look after for him.

Bruce is a very chunky chap weighing in at 55kg. He is very handsome, loves cuddles and other dogs, enjoys walks and is slowly building up his fitness.

Unfortunately Bruce suffers from epilepsy and will most likely be on medication for the rest of his life. It does not affect his day-to-day activity and very rarely has fits but when he does they usually last around 20-30 seconds. There is nothing we can do but make sure he is safe and let it pass.

Epilepsy means repeated seizures due to an abnormality in the brain. Often dogs just seek out their owner's company and sit beside them when a seizure is about to start.

Once it starts the dog is unconscious and is not in pain or distressed. They cannot hear or respond to you.

Most dogs become stiff, fall onto their side and make running movements with their legs.

The seizure itself is likely to be more distressing for you than your dog. Make sure that your dog is not in a position to injure themselves.

Bruce's medication is currently controlling the seizures and we hope that it will mean he is free of fits for the foreseeable future.

■ LAST year the RSPCA Stort Valley branch treated 1,583 animals at our local practice and we also rehomed 190 animals.

We would like to say a big thank you to everyone who chooses to rehome and animal in need – without you we wouldn't be able to continue the work we do.

Two-minute silence to mark Battle of the Somme

A TWO-minute silence will be observed in Harlow town centre tomorrow (Friday) during a service marking the centenary of the start of the Battle of the Somme.

The service, which will be held in Market Square, starts at 7am when Councillor Jean Clark will give the opening speech.

This will be followed by a presentation from local residents and historians John Bowden and Nicholas Taylor about the battle and details on the 13 men from the Harlow district who died in the conflict.

Readings from local faith leaders will be followed at 7.20am by two loud bangs to represent mines that were detonated 100 years ago to the minute, after which Colonel Stephen Foakes, regimental president of the Essex Yeomanry, will give a presentation about the Essex Regiment's preparations and actions in battle.

Trenches

A whistle will be blown at 7.30am, the exact time 100 years ago when Allied troops left the trenches and went over the top at the start of the battle, which was to last a further 141 days. When the battle ended on November 18 more than one million servicemen had been killed or injured. Friday's service will draw to a close with a bugler playing The Last Post and then a bagpipe lament.

Free parking will be available in the Post Office Road car park from 6.30-8.30am for anyone wanting to attend. ■ An all-night vigil is to be held at North Weald Airfield, starting at dusk tonight (Thursday).

The vice-chairman of Epping Forest Council, David Stallan, and other invited guests will light a brazier which will be tended through the night by airfield officers dressed in the uniforms of the British Army in 1916.

Faiths

At 7.30am tomorrow (Friday) a public service of commemoration for people of all faiths will start with the sounds of distant battle being broadcast across the airfield. The service will be led by Father James Rodley from St Andrew's Church and include readings from the works of the Great War poets.

Dog back with family nine years after he was stolen

Microchip revealed identity of pet handed to animal shelter

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

A YORKSHIRE terrier has been reunited with his delighted owners NINE years after he was stolen.

The Twin family still have pictures in their hallway of Foster, who was reported stolen in 2007. Despite an intensive search, the family pet remained missing and the family all but gave up hope of his return.

But miraculously, the 13-year-old pooch has been returned to his home after being signed over to the Harlow branch of the RSPCA.

The reunion with Kelly and Neil Twin, 42, and their daughter Daisy, 10, was only made possible because Foster was fitted with a microchip that revealed his true identity when he was given a medical check by vets.

Time

"We still had conversations about Foster, what he might be doing, if he was being looked after, but never in a million years did we think we'd get him back after all this time," said Kelly, 40.

Foster was stolen during a burglary from a barn in White Notley, where the family keep horses. He was just four years old.

Kelly said: "I'd left him in the barn and when I returned they taken him along with chainsaws and other equipment. I didn't expect to see him again."

"We have pictures of him in the hallway and he's always been a part of our family, he used to sleep on the bed with us," said Mrs Twin.

Foster - who had been renamed Dats - was signed over to the animal charity at The Stow last week following the death of his owner.

RSPCA volunteer Wendy Catton said: "Little Dats came into our care and was settled into a foster home. He was a very sweet little chap and loved his new surroundings. Dats was then brought into our clinic for his health check before being put up for adoption.

"He was in fine health but curiously after being scanned a microchip number was found. We put this number into the data base and were alerted that little Dats had been reported stolen in 2007. "We immediately contacted the numbers given, hoping they were up to date."

Wendy added: "We would advise everyone especially now with the new laws to get their dogs checked for chips.

"Always keep your microchip details up to date, even after several years, you never know when they may find their way home.

"If you are unsure on any aspect of microchipping you can contact or bring your pet in and we can scan them for a chip.

"Scanning involves running a plastic scanner over the animal and only takes a second to get the results and is completely painless."

Meanwhile, Foster is now enjoying life with the Twins. "We're now spending time settling him back into the family," said Kelly.

'Nobody feels safe going into the garden'

"After the second time I said that something needs to be done and the council put up a rail and raised the kerb. I thought that would keep us safe.

"For 13 years nothing happened but on Friday my partner was in our old garden shed and the dog was out there too when the van hit the kerb and turned in the air.

"My partner was terrified. He said he thought he was going to die when he saw the van.

"We are a young family. The two children were inside the house but if they were outside they would not have survived. The dog managed to run inside.

"We are in the process of building the new shed which was destroyed. It was chaos."

Miss Harrington was at work when the accident happened. Her partner, who was shaken and bruised, said he did not see anyone get out of the vehicle.

Tarpaulin

Builders have now put up some temporary fencing while a tarpaulin has been erected to cover some of the garden. The family are in talks with insurers about the cost of repairing the damage.

Miss Harrington added: "Nobody feels safe going out into the garden. I have contacted [Harlow MP] Robert Halfon. We need something to keep us safe."

PC Myles Hilbery, of the Chigwell Road Policing Unit, said: "This was a single vehicle collision involving a Ford Transit.

"Circumstances of the collision are unknown. It would appear that the vehicle came down Fern Hill Lane and exited the road. It flipped and landed there.

"Inquiries are still ongoing and I ask any witnesses to contact Essex Police on the non-emergency 101 number."

Former officer lodges appeal over dismissal

A FORMER police officer who was sacked from the Essex force after allegedly ignoring an allegation of rape has lodged an appeal against the decision.

PC Mark Smith, who served the areas of Harlow and Loughton, was dismissed without notice following a misconduct panel hearing in November.

The panel was told a member of the public made an allegation to PC Smith that she had been drugged and raped. It was said he ignored the allegation and made an arrest for the less serious offence of actual bodily harm. The panel ruled the officer had breached the standards of professional behaviour. His appeal will be heard on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

We will prosper outside the EU

SIR, What a wonderful referendum result for the people of Harlow in more ways than one.

The colossal tally of 29,602 votes at the Harlow count represented more than 68 per cent of the vote and was one of the highest pro-Brexit votes in the entire nation.

Not only that, but the exceptionally high turnout of 73.5 per cent was also one of the highest in the country. That shows a very healthy level of political involvement and engagement in the town.

In this contest of elite versus the people, it was very disappointing that our MP sided with the elite by supporting Remain after he had consistently said in the past that he thought Britain would be better off out of the EU.

Back in the 1999 Euro elections, eyebrows were raised at the count when more than 1,000 people dared to back UKIP. On Thursday, 17 years later, support for a free, independent Britain could be measured in the tens of thousands.

We are a hard-working, enterprising, free-spirited town and people. We will succeed and prosper outside the EU.

Tony Bennett
via email

Many councillors are out of touch

SIR, Now the referendum is over we are witnessing the aftershock reverberating right through the two main political parties.

I believe it only honourable that those local councillors who voiced their concerns about leaving the EU should also resign.

It is worth noting the huge majority the Leave campaign generated in Harlow, a staggering 29,602 votes against 13,867 for remain in one of the highest turnouts this town has seen. This shows how out of touch many of Harlow councillors are with the residents of the town.

Alternatively, perhaps they might sign an open letter – the preferred method of communicating with the electorate in this campaign – to apologise for having such a myopic view and that they have failed miserably to listen to the people they supposedly represent in this town.

With their resignations it will provide the electorate with the opportunity to have councillors with vision to unite

READER'S PHOTO

■ This week's photo was sent in by Muriel Jolles, of Fir Park, Harlow, who writes: "This morning a surprise visitor strolled into our garden to eat some milky porridge which I put out for the birds. I was delighted to see this baby hedgehog wander in; it allowed me to take this photograph."

■ If you have a photo you have taken in or around Harlow, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with where and when it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please remember to include your name and address so that we can give you a credit.

the country as it should be, free of the shackles of Europe and free of their dysfunctional perspectives on our English way of life, nationally and in Harlow.

Paul Wadley
St Andrew's Meadow, Harlow

Let's have faith in our country

SIR, The word now being spread throughout the media is that those of us who voted Leave in Thursday's EU referendum are confirmed racists.

As a Leave voter, I list below the reasons for my vote which I believe will show how wrong are those maintaining and voicing this racist slander.

■ To enable Britain of whatever heritage, class, colour etc to live in a democratic country and to be able to elect and dismiss their rulers.

■ To stop, at least for the time being, the heinous Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership treaty now being secretly negotiated by the EU which is designed solely to increase the profits of multinational corporations and which will destroy thousands of jobs and diminish everybody's standards of living.

■ To regain our territorial waters and restore our fishing industry.

■ To stop the asset stripping of Britain which is now going on with the assistance of the EU.

■ To be able to make our own trading agreements as, and with whom, we wish.

The doom-laden and pessimistic Remainers should examine their conclusions about the voting which took place on Thursday, get their facts right and have faith in their own country and its people.

R.G. Beale
Mark Hall Moors, Harlow

Bus diversion is still a necessity

SIR, We are aware the 418 TrustyBus passes along Edinburgh Way (Letters, July 23). Unfortunately, if you live on the edge of Harlow the only bus service is an Arriva bus.

The return fare to the town centre for two of us is £7 and the cost then of getting a return ticket on the 418 bus would be a far too expensive a journey.

We can get a day ticket but of course the way Essex bus services are run you can only use the ticket for the same bus company.

We still need one of the Arriva buses to Bishop's Stortford to divert along Edinburgh Way. Because of the cuts made by Essex County Council, bus companies can now only run services that make a profit rather than for convenience.

Maureen Boochoon

Town is turning into a wasteland

SIR, Welcome to Chernobyl because that is exactly what Harlow looks like with its overgrown verges, hedges, trees recreation fields and parkland.

It must be more than five years since they were all cut back properly. Have we had fallout from somewhere?

After being out of Harlow for a day or two you realise how smartly other councils keep their landscapes.

Harlow always took on agency staff for the season so what has happened? The environment people say it is for the wildlife but we haven't seen any butterflies for years now, only blackberry bushes and they have taken over.

Please do something or we will be called the Chernobyl of Essex.

L. Cole
Sibneys Green, Harlow

Sign up for the dementia tour

SIR, I was delighted to read in the Star a few weeks ago that Princess Alexandra Hospital has added the Virtual Dementia Tour as part of its ongoing training for staff.

This virtual tour puts you in the shoes of someone who has dementia and gives a much clearer insight into their daily life.

I undertook the tour two years ago and was absolutely amazed by the insight and the work that had clearly gone into this and would encourage anyone with a family member who has dementia, or even if you just want to learn more, to undertake the tour.

Being so enthused by the tour and the knowledge it gives, I have secured the Mobile Virtual Dementia Training unit in Harlow on Tuesday, August 9 with a venue yet to be confirmed. If anyone would like to learn more and take the tour at only £30 per person, please email me at lindott10@gmail.com.

The training lasts for just a few hours and there are three sessions with 12 people at a time, so there is a limit of 36 on the day – morning session, midday and afternoon. It will be on a first come first served basis so please don't delay in contacting me.

Training2Care Ltd has secured a second unit which went on the road only last week and is already heavily booked for the rest of the year, which is testament to the success of this training.

For only £30 you can have a much better understanding of dementia and help rather than feel helpless.

DREAM teams of Premier League legends played in Harlow to film an episode of A League of Their Own.

James Corden and Jack Whitehall, presenters on the Sky 1 panel show, managed five-a-side teams of celebrities including fellow presenter Jamie Redknapp and former players at Harlow Arena, home to Harlow Town Football Club.

The Hawks offered free entry to watch the kick-about which was filmed on Monday and is set to be broadcast as part of a new series later this year.

Players included Lee Bowyer, David Seaman,

Dion Dublin and Neil Ruddock, while former Tottenham manager Harry Redknapp handed out trophies.

Cricketer and A League of Their Own regular Andrew Flintoff also took part in the match which was played over two 20 minute halves.

Claire Watters, 34, of Elwood, Harlow, said: "It was great fun and there was lots of joking around. Some people had come a long way to watch and it looked at one point like we might not get in."

"But we were able to stand by the side of the pitch."

Plan 'a threat to vulnerable young people'

Councillor criticises shake-up of HRS services

Gemma Gardner

gemma.gardner@hertsexnews.co.uk

A COUNTY councillor has slammed plans to slash Housing Related Support for young people in Essex.

Essex County Council has agreed to re-shape HRS services for young people in the county.

The authority's cabinet heard that the current service was not providing the best value for money, and that re-designed support will ensure that resources go to those that most need them.

But Cllr Mike Danvers, who represents Harlow at County Hall, voiced opposition to the plans and pointed to the problems with Occasio House, where more than 100 16-25 year-olds are facing eviction.

He said: "Much more needs to be done by Essex to recognise the plight of these vulnerable youngsters, many of whom were placed there by Essex County Council social services in the first place. "I have asked that this scheme be called in and face further debate and scrutiny before it goes ahead. At present I am utterly opposed to these plans."

Subject to the outcome of a scrutiny process and following a competitive tendering process, new services are due to start on December 1. The focus will be on making sure there is consistent, targeted housing support for vulnerable people where it is most needed across the county.

The three priority groups identified - vulnerable teenage parents, 16-18 year olds at risk of homelessness and care leavers (19-21 years old, up to 25 in special circumstances) - will be supported to access services, advice and appropriate housing.

Priority

Those young people not in these priority groups will be re-directed to other support services the council provides.

Cllr Dick Madden, cabinet member for adults and children at County Hall, said: "This decision means we can improve Housing Related Support services for our most vulnerable young people."

"The new support service will work with the providers and district and borough councils to ensure young people are supported to transition and helped to lead independent lives."

Afterwards Cllr Madden and Cllr Danvers met with many of the young people involved outside the council chamber.

"They expressed their concern that they would find it very difficult to get accommodation in the short time provided."

"They explained that they felt safe within the community that the foyers created and they were able to give themselves mutual support. All this would be lost if the foyer funding was cut," added Cllr Danvers.

Councillors will visit foyers across the county over the next few weeks before a final decision to withdraw funding is made.

A petition launched by 18-year-old Jake Shepherd has gathered 3,758 signatures from former tenants, residents of the town and supporters of the facility.

Jake, who is a Labour Party activist, launched the petition as he was concerned about the detrimental impact of the closure.

He said: "These young people shouldn't have to go around with a begging bowl to get what they rightly deserve."

In brief

Legal service benefits from walk

HARLOW: A team of 18 walked 10km through central London to raise funds in support of Harlow Citizens Advice's law clinic.

Volunteers joined Citizens Advice staff to raise £2,200 by completing the London Legal Walk.

The Law clinic launched in September and operates from the East Gate premises.

The invaluable service needs the support of such donations to keep operating.

Fun day will raise charity cash

HARLOW: Upwards with Down's is holding a family fun day on Sunday, July 17 at The Link in Parsloe Road.

All proceeds from the day will go towards running costs of the Harlow charity which supports people with Down syndrome and their carers.

From 11am to 5pm there will be live music, a barbeque, sports, games and a prize raffle with top prizes of a flat screen TV.

Entry is £1 for adults and children can enter for free.

Cheerleaders celebrate success

ESSEX: Cheerleading team Illuminate Allstars competed in Dublin on their first ever international tour.

A squad of 13 athletes and two coaches from the adult Ultraviolet team, based at Summers Leisure Centre in Broadley Road, Harlow, won two first place trophies during their Irish adventure.

Illuminate has eight teams for members aged three years and over.

EU REFERENDUM: More than 43,000 residents turned out to vote and almost

Town's still a great place for business, says council leader

Gemma Gardner

HARLOW remains a great place to do business after the country voted to leave the European Union, council leader Jon Clempner has said.

Cllr Clempner, who campaigned in favour of remaining in the EU, said it is too early to know the full impact on the town but that he - and the council - would continue to make a case for investment.

Investment

He said: "While it is too early for the impact of leaving the EU on business confidence, the economy and government investment in vital infrastructure such as Crossrail 2, road and rail, and a new hospital to be known, what is clear is that Harlow remains a great place to do business."

"The council and I will continue to make the case for investment, and I hope the whole community will pull together for the good of Harlow."

Chancellor George Osborne has warned that tax rises and spending cuts will be needed to deal with the "shock" to the EU economy caused by leaving the EU.

"It's very clear that the country is going to be poorer as a result of what's happening to the economy," he told Radio 4's Today programme.

Speaking after the result, Cllr Clempner said: "I am disappointed. I am unsurprising Harlow voted to leave but I am surprised by the result."

"Places like Harlow are in the brunt of austerity and the Leave campaign have tried to blame EU (for that)."

"I think the right thing is to remain in the EU and it's the right thing for Harlow. We need investment which is made possible through being in the EU."

Denise Rossiter, chief executive of Essex Chambers of Commerce, said the immediate priorities for UK business - and those in Essex - are market stability and political clarity.

She added: "In the wake of the electorate's historic decision to leave the European Union,

"Some businesspeople will be pleased with the result and others resigned to it."

"Yet all companies will expect swift, decisive and co-ordinated action from the Government and the Bank of England to stabilise markets if trading conditions or the availability of capital change dramatically.

"Firms across the UK want an immediate and unambiguous statement from the Prime Minister on next steps, along with a clear timeline for the UK's exit from the European Union."

"Business will also want to see a detailed plan to support the economy during the coming transition period - as confidence, investment, hiring and growth would all be deeply affected by a prolonged period of uncertainty."

"If ever there were a time to ditch the straitjacket of fiscal rules for investment in a better business infrastructure, this is it."

Action

"Businesses need action to maintain economic stability, a timeline for exit and answers to their many practical, real-world questions about doing business during and after this historic transition."

"Firms want help to get Britain back to business at a time of great uncertainty."

"The health of the economy must be the number one priority - not the Westminster political post-mortem," she added.

30,000 of them reflected the national consensus to quit the European Union

William Mata

william.mata@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

AN overwhelming majority of voters in Harlow supported the campaign for Britain to leave the European Union.

More than 60,000 people were entitled to take part in Thursday's referendum and 43,489 exercised their right. The turnout of 73.56 per cent was slightly higher than the national average of 72.2.

The result of the vote in Harlow was 29,602 in favour of leaving the EU and 13,867 wanting to remain. Twenty ballot papers were rejected, 19 for being unmarked or for uncertainty and one because both boxes had been marked.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who argued for Britain to stay in the EU, said: "I always said that whilst my heart said leave, my head said stay."

"Many Harlow small businesses contacted me saying that they were really worried that Brexit would have an impact on their work with European companies and they were worried that jobs would be lost in Harlow."

"Since I've been MP I've done everything possible to try to bring jobs back to our town because this is what makes our town prosperous and enables people to have the means to look after themselves and their families."

He added: "I pay tribute to the many Harlow residents who voted for leave and also the smaller number who voted to remain. Given that the vote in Harlow has been so decisive, as MP for the town I will make it my duty to do my part to ensure that residents' clear and definitive wishes are followed through in Parliament."

Speaking immediately after the declaration at the Latton Bush Centre in the early hours of Friday, Conservative councillor Andrew Johnson - who led the of Vote Leave campaign in Harlow - said: "I am ecstatic. The result was even better than expected."

"We had lots of different political parties working together and we worked very hard. I did not think we would [win] at the start but people were getting very involved and our stall went very well."

Reacting to the decision by David Cameron to stand down as Prime Minister in the wake of the out vote, he said: "I think he could have stayed but he has decided to go and now we will see what the leadership contest brings."

"It is important for the Conservative Party to have new leadership. I think we need to do that quickly and we need someone in to move this country forward."

Fellow Tory councillor Joel Charles, who led the Britain Stronger in Europe campaign locally, said: "The majority of Harlow residents voted to leave and it is important that the result is respected."

"We had a positive campaign and I would like to thank everyone who took part from across different political parties."

Labour East of England MEP and former Harlow Council leader Richard Howitt said he was disappointed by the result, but added: "Politics are based on the principle of consent and we have to accept the popular will is for Britain to leave the European Union."

He said: "I am concerned the economic consequences of leaving the EU will prove to be fact not fear. In Westminster, Labour must and will give the greatest priority to defending jobs and services for working people, from the shocks which will follow."

"I worry about the divisive nature of the debate and for the continuing loss of tolerance, respect and openness in our democracy."

18 months for burglar caught hiding in hedge

A THIEF who was caught hiding in a hedge after stealing cash from a home in Harlow has been jailed.

Daniel Hampton, 26, of Waterhouse Moor, Harlow, was found hiding in Harlow Town Park by police. Last Tuesday he pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to a charge of burglary and was sent to prison for 18 months.

The court was told police were called to the property in Altham Grove after two men knocked at the door shortly after midnight on October 21 and forced their way inside. They took a wallet containing about £110 from a handbag before leaving.

When officers arrived at the house they saw two men running off into Harlow Town Park and pursued them on foot. After a 15-minute search they found Hampton (pictured above) hiding under a hedge and discarded gloves and a screwdriver nearby.

The court was told the victim and his partner had only moved in the previous day and had withdrawn the money to see them through the week as they were due to attend hospital the following day for the birth of their second child.

Children's centres restructure agreed

Plan to introduce family hubs and delivery sites

Ken Morley

PLANS to close more than two-thirds of all children's centres in Essex have been rubber-stamped by County Hall chiefs.

Following a public consultation between February and April, the county council has decided to axe 25 of the existing 37 centres and change the remaining facilities to multi-service family hubs.

In their place there will be 12 family hubs – one in each district – open 50 hours a week and supported by 25 family hub delivery sites and a number of local outreach sites.

The changes, which will be introduced next April, will offer a mixture of services under one roof, from school nursing for toddlers to pastoral care for 19-year-olds.

County councillor Dick Madden, cabinet member for adults and children, said: "We are doing this because we need to provide services for vulnerable people.

"We want to create a service without walls. We want to become more adaptable and more flexible. The bottom line is we need to engage more with vulnerable people."

He added: "At the moment about 75 per cent of those people have access to us and obviously we want to get that

What it means for Harlow

■ Treehouse Children's Centre, in Parnall Road, to become a family hub open for 50 hours a week.

■ Meadows Children's Centre, in Harberts Road to become a family hub delivery site open for 20-30 hours a week.

■ The Potter Street Children's Centre, in Carters Mead, to close. Family hub delivery site open for 20-30 hours a week to be established.

■ The Burnt Mill Children's Centre, at Burnt Mill Academy in First Avenue, to close and a family hub outreach site established within Harlow Central Library.

"Two years ago we reduced the number of the county's children's centres from 87, when we were providing access for 35,000 families, to 37 children's centres where we now cater for 42,500 families. So the evidence is there for all to see."

It said family hubs would be open longer, including weekends, to compensate for the closures while satellite sites would open on a part-time basis, occasionally at weekends.

The county council said current services are fragmented and confusing, leading to parents receiving inconsistent support and a heightened risk families will not receive the support they need.

But Liberal Democrat county councillor Stephen Robinson said: "It is a retrograde step. The problem with part-time services is that people won't necessarily know when they're open. People lose that integration."

"It's a concern that teenagers and children will be supported at the same facility. I also don't think libraries are the best venues for these services; if someone wants a confidential conversation, will those facilities be made available?"

Council warning over 'accident calls' scam

RESIDENTS have been warned to be on their guard after reports that a number of people had received bogus telephone calls from someone claiming to be from Harlow Council.

Several calls were made last Thursday during which the caller said they were ringing from the Civic Centre and attempted to engage the recipient in a conversation about a recent accident in order to gain personal details.

After being notified of the scam, the council confirmed that it was not behind the calls and urged residents to treat them with caution.

"We would like the public to be aware that the council would not cold call people regarding such an issue and have no connection with these calls," said a spokesman. "We would also like to remind residents to be wary about giving out personal details to callers."

■ Anyone wanting to verify whether a caller claiming to be from the council is genuine should call Contact Harlow on (01279) 446655.

Drivers urged to slow down passing horses

A NEW campaign urging motorists to slow down when approaching and passing horses is being supported by Essex Council Council.

The British Horse Society wants drivers to reduce their speed to 15mph and give riders plenty of space.

County councillor Eddie Johnson, cabinet member for highways and transport and representative for the Harlow South East division, said: "As we come into the summer months horses become a common sight on the county's rural roads."

"Horses and drivers should be able to share the road without incident as long as everyone follows some simple rules. I would urge drivers to be aware of riders and reduce their speed when in close proximity to a horse."

The British Horse Society has received more than 2,000 reports of road incidents involving horses a over the past five years and statistics show June is the most common month for accidents.

Shock decision by Freshwaters Academy

PUPILS at a Harlow primary school have raised funds to purchase a heart defibrillator which will be available for use by the local community.

The junior leadership team at Freshwaters Academy, in School Lane, chose to purchase the lifesaving device after raising the funds by holding a disco.

The defibrillator is located at the school and is available to use in an emergency situation both in and around the premises as well as the wider community.

Improve

Head of school Marios Solomonides said: "The junior leadership team had the power to raise money for anything they wanted which would improve their learning or social experiences.

"I am proud of them for deciding to raise money for a defibrillator because it proves that they genuinely care about others.

"Some people say that children are egotistical and selfish but that is not the case here at Freshwaters."

Facilities 'to match children's excellence'

LESSONS for pupils at a Harlow primary school will be transformed with the opening of a new classroom block.

Cooks Spinney Primary Academy, in Cooks Spinney, welcomed Tim Coulson, regional schools commissioner for the East of England and North London, to perform the official ribbon-cutting ceremony.

Transform

Headteacher Neil Stirrat said: "The new building improvements will transform the school experience for our pupils in years Three and Four.

GREEN FUTURE: Cooks Spinney Academy

They now have spacious, well-lit classrooms equipped with smartboards and brand new furniture.

"We have fantastic children at Cooks Spinney and now we have a building to match."

Building work started in October last year and was completed on schedule in time for the summer term.

Opening

Mr Coulson was joined at the opening by Mr Stirrat, executive headteacher Stuart Pope and Helena Mills, chief executive of the Burnt Mill Academy Trust.

The building work was carried out by Leary Brothers Ltd which has also sponsored the school's football team and provided the players with a new kit.

FARADAY CHALLENGE: Students fight to crack the code in science contest

William Mata

william.mata@hertsessexnews.co.uk

STUDENTS from three Harlow schools put their scientific, technology, engineering and mathematics skills to the test when they took part in the IET Faraday Challenge.

The 36 students representing Stewards Academy in Parnall Road, Passmores Academy in Traces Road and St Mark's West Essex Catholic School in Tripton Road were given the task of creating a product of their choice using a BBC Micro:Bit, a handheld computer coding device.

Battle

Each school had two teams of six students from Year 7 who took on a team of teachers to battle it out for top honours.

After they had finished, the teams pitched their completed designs to judges who chose a winner based on strict criteria.

All the students had to demonstrate planning and research, development of their product, the of three Harlow schools duke it out in test of programming skills

WINNERS: Stewards Academy lift the trophy

with some fantastic designs.

"This event gave them a critical way to understand, explore and engage with modern technology and also inspires students to shape their own future choices."

Stewards Academy were judged the winners after creating two innovative designs.

Mr Osei continued: "The event promotes personal, learning and thinking skills as well as encourage teamwork, creativity, problem-solving, time management and innovation."

LODGINGS: Lily (Year 1 and Louis (Year 3) of Team Beaver

Pupils doing a good turn now and den

MORE than 200 pupils at St Alban's Catholic Academy in Harlow took part in Save The Children's den day project to raise money for young people without shelter.

Children in mixed age groups of 15, had just over an hour to create their dens around the First Avenue school using materials brought in. The teams were named after woodland animals and the school soon became dotted with dens in classrooms and corridors.

Cardboard boxes and bedsheets were the most popular choices of materials and it took four trips to the recycling centre before the school was cleared of the all cardboard.

The day's activities were organised by learning support assistant Connor Linden, who then had the task of judging the results of the hard work.

"It was a fantastic, mad morning which teachers and students won't forget in a hurry," he said.

The eventual winners were the Grey Squirrel team.

Tim's space secret

A SPECIAL message from British astronaut Tim Peake has been sent to more than 600,000 children who took part in the Royal Horticultural Society's Campaign for School Gardening and the UK Space Agency's Rocket Science experiment.

A quantity of seeds was sent up to the International Space Station before Tim left on his mission while a similar amount stayed on Earth.

Before he set off for the ISS, Tim flipped a coin to decide which colour packet - blue or red - would contain the space seeds when they were returned to Earth.

After six months on board the ISS, the seeds were brought back by NASA astronaut Scott Kelly and placed into the coloured packet determined by coin flip while the seeds that remained on Earth were put into the other packet.

Both sets were then distributed among more than 8,500 schools and educational groups which, during April and May, grew them alongside each other to investigate the impact of microgravity, radiation and space travel on seed germination and growth.

But the answer to the question what colour packet contained the space seeds remained a closely-guarded secret until Tim revealed the answer in his video message last week.

The results of the experiment will help to provide a clearer picture of the potential for astronauts to grow their own food during future long-term space missions.

Tim, who returned to Earth last Saturday, said: "Throughout my time on the ISS I have kept an eye on the Rocket Science project via social media.

"It's been amazing to see so many young people engaging in a science experiment of this scale.

"I'm sure we have successfully created a few more future scientists, horticulturists and hopefully astronauts to continue work like this in years to come."

■ PS: The answer to the question of which colour packet contained the space seeds is blue.

Hundreds to take part in hospice fundraiser this weekend

Ken Morley

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HUNDREDS of neon-clad fundraisers will be heading to Harlow town centre on Saturday evening to take part in St Clare Hospice's biggest event of the year.

With just two days to go to the Midnight Walk, the organising team have been busy with the final preparations as they prepare to welcome more than 600 people to the start and finish point at The Water Gardens.

Although online registration is now closed, there will be a chance to sign up on the night. Registration opens at 9pm and at 10.30pm there will be a dance warm-up led by staff from Pure-Gym and Clubbercise Harlow before the start of the walk at 11pm.

The walkers will be set on their way by the wife and daughters of Steve Barclay, who passed away at the hospice on January 1 this year.

The St Clare team will be selling a range of neon-themed merchandise including tutus, so excited to welcome all our Midnight Walkers to our most spectacular event of the year.

ON YOUR MARKS: Members of the hospice fundraising team get ready. Left, the start of the last Midnight Walk in Harlow in 2014

"It has taken more than six months of planning and we have been supported by more than 100 volunteers and local businesses so now we just can't wait to put on a show to make Harlow proud!" Jade added: "I am most looking forward to welcoming our families and supporters on to the stage at the start of the walk. We will be joined by Sue, Sophie and Emma Barclay, as well as other families who are very close to our hearts.

"This is the reason we are putting on such a big event, to celebrate the care St Clare have provided over the past three decades and to light up the night with love and remembrance for all those we have lost."

It is hoped the walk raise at least £60,000 for the hospice, enough to fund the inpatient unit for two weeks.

The Midnight Walk is sponsored by local solicitors Barnes and Partners and supported by the Star.

■ Anyone planning to sign up on the night should go to the dedicated registration desk. The cost is £20 per adult (16 years and above) and £10 for children (11-15 years).

Participants can choose either a 5km or 10km route.

More information about the walk is available from the St Clare website at the www.stclarehospice.org.uk/event/midnight-walk-2016. Alternatively, you can call Jade Clarke on (01279) 773756 or email jade.clarke@stclarehospice.org.uk.

SERVICE: Saira at work in the kitchen of her pop-up restaurant

Saira tickles the tastebuds with a 'sizzling' fundraiser

MASTERCHEF finalist Saira Hamilton raised almost £3,000 for St Clare Hospice – her chosen charity of the year – when she hosted a pop-up restaurant.

More than 100 diners attended the one-off event held at Manuden Village Hall and enjoyed award-winning Bengali cuisine prepared by Sawbridgeworth resident Saira.

"I love to share my food with my local community and it was fantastic to do so while raising vital funds for this fantastic charity," she said.

"St Clare gives such incredible care to each and every person who comes through its doors. The hospice is such a happy and uplifting place and we are just so lucky to have it on our doorstep.

St Clare community fundraiser Sue Fishpool described the evening as a "sizzling success", adding: "Diners were delighted to sample food prepared by a chef from the famous MasterChef series and Saira's cuisine certainly lived up to expectations."

"We cannot thank her enough for hosting this exclusive culinary event for us and are excited to be working with her throughout the year on other fundraising initiatives."

In Memoriam

Jenny REILLY (nee Coyle)

Our Mother our Angel
Once upon a time an angel held my hand,
She wiped away my tears and helped me understand.
Our time on earth is brief, there's lessons to be learned,
Each precious day God gives us another page is turned.
Every chapter full of memories, times of joy and tears,
Triumphs and defeats, through every passing year,
She loved us unconditionally, always by our side,
When no one else would listen, in her we could confide.
With gentle words of wisdom she led us on our way,
She was there to guide us, if ever we did stray.
She saw the light in everyone and gave with no regrets,
Always from her heart let's not forget.
Angels come in many forms, for me it is my mother,
With love I cannot say in words there'll never be another.
30 years have passed and never a day goes by when your not
In our thoughts we love and miss you more than words can say

Helpful Carmen is just the ticket

Station worker gets top marks in survey

AN employee at Harlow Mill station has scored top marks for customer service for the fifth time.

Carmen Milos, who works as a relief office ticket clerk, was praised for her "friendly, helpful and professional" attitude in a mystery shopper survey carried out by train operator Abellio Greater Anglia earlier this month.

Carmen was praised for providing help and information to passengers and received a mark of 100 per cent, her fifth since joining the company.

Mike Barry, assistant area customer service manager, said: "I am delighted that Carmen has again been independently recognised for her dedication and consistency in delivering excellent customer service."

"I would like to congratulate her on this run of perfect scores and thank her for her efforts."

■ The provision of information to passengers using Harlow Town station is first class, according to

WELL DONE:
Carmen Milos receives her award from assistant customer service manager Mike Barry Abellio Greater Anglia.

The station is one of eight in Essex to receive a 100 per cent score during its latest check.

Among the features which were checked were visible signage and directions, a clear public address system and regular announcements, the provision of customer information screens displaying accurate information, relevant timetables and posters, details of local bus and taxi services and clearly displayed opening times.

First single release for Muffin Heads

AFTER recording in memory of Paris terror attack victims punk band The Muffin Heads have released their debut single Queen Bitch.

With a growing following and BBC Introducing exposure, the Harlow trio are hoping the release will help propel the band onto bigger and better things.

"We're here to provide hard riffs and growling vocals, we bring the noise and we're proud of it," said Bex Dolan, who sings and plays bass.

"We're incredibly excited to be releasing a single less than a year after we started playing together."

"We've had a very exciting year, being played on BBC Introducing Essex was a massive highlight especially as they premiered Queen Bitch."

"We can't wait to get back in the recording studio late this year."

Bex is backed up by guitarist Pete Holland and new drummer Nick Metcalfe. The Queen Bitch single also includes B-side Media Vulture which has been played on Harlow radio station Firebird.

TMH paid tribute to the 89 who died in the Bataclan shootings while Eagles of Death Metal were playing by recording a cover of their song I Love You All the Time in a charity appeal.

Several local bands recorded the song which was then released on a compilation to be downloaded, with all proceeds from sales going to charity.

AFTER starring as a dancing mouse and a troubled teenager Harlow actress Charlotte Spencer has got her big break.

The graduate of The Henry Moore Primary School and Brenda Taylor School of Dance and Performing Arts stars in eerie BBC thriller The Girl on the Train and the Dead which started this week.

After being nominated for a BAFTA for her role in dystopian Channel 4 drama Glue, 24-year-old Charlotte has landed the role of a lifetime as the wife of former Merlin star Colin Morgan.

Confusingly, Charlotte plays Charlotte in the drama, which is set in Somerset in 1894. Brilliant psychologist Nathan Appleby (Morgan) inherits his parents' farm house and moves to the South West with his wife.

Things start off brilliantly, but a dark turn of events casts a shadow over their sunny lives. Gradually, supernatural events begin to unfold which threaten the existence of Nathan, Charlotte and their unborn baby.

Nathan's belief in science drives him to the edge as he cannot explain what is going on in a Victorian-era where he fights against people with belief in the spirit world and Ouija boards.

Directed by BBC veteran Ashley Pharoah, The Girl on the Train and the Dead promises to be an enthralling watch and certainly not one for the faint hearted.

The series began on Tuesday (June 28) and will run over six weeks, while all episodes are now available to download on BBC iPlayer.

Ahead of the television premiere, Charlotte has been tweeting her excitement with messages like "One more day!"

She has previously starred in Angelina Ballerina and Dexter Fletcher directed film Wild Bill but her journey onto television began in Harlow at the Brenda Taylor School of Dance and Performing Arts.

As part of the school, based in the Latton Bush Centre, in Harlow, she appeared on stage in Annie and Mary Poppins.

Mrs Taylor said: "She was Annie in our own production and at that stage I thought 'that child is very very special.' She got spotted."

"She is a beautiful girl and she came back to help us with one of our shows. She has always kept her feet on the ground."

Eleanor Leverington, assistant at The Henry Moore Primary, in Kiln Lane, fondly remembers Charlotte's time at the school.

She said: "We are beyond proud, she was an outstanding student and was in a Year 6 club that I lead. She is down to earth and a normal young lady."

ART EXHIBITIONS

CHAOS THEORY

The Gallery, Parndon Mill, Harlow
until August 7 (Tuesday-Friday 10am-5pm, Sunday 2-4pm)

An exhibition of cast glass sculpture by Heike Brachlow, whose has a studio at Parndon Mill and who exhibits her work internationally. Chaos theory is the science of surprises; it is about expecting the unexpected. Brachlow's work reflects her attraction to movement and transformation both in colour and form. The pieces are precariously balanced and can be set in various positions, many changing colour when exposed to different light sources.

The gallery will be holding an open weekend on Saturday, July 16 and Sunday, July 17 during which nearly all 30 studios will be open. Glass, weaving, calligraphy, guitar making, ceramics, jewellery and metalwork along with fine arts will be on view and there will be demonstrations and opportunities to have a go.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Gibberd Gallery, Civic Centre, Harlow
until September 1 (Monday-Friday 9am-4.45pm)

A celebration of the work of Essex-born artist Peter Randall Page. This extravagant and vibrant exhibition of carvings, bronzes, works on paper and maquettes comes to the East of England for the very first time as the gallery is transformed into a journey through Page's artistic transitions. A stone carving entitled Warp and Woof, has been placed in The Water Gardens to create a marker and starting point for visitors to the exhibition.

NEW WORKS

Gatehouse Arts, East Gate Gallery, Harlow
until July 9 (Tuesday, Thursday, Friday & Saturday 10am-4pm)

A window show of new artwork by resident artists as part of the Harlow Art and Sculpture Trail.

Linkfest line-up revealed

BANDS are praying for sunshine as they gear up for LinkFest, a one day music festival in Harlow Town Park.

Lee Cook from Hit Parade and Dave Moore from Expose will bring their bandmates to the Bandstand for the first of two free events on Sunday, July 24.

They are joined on the bill by Dawgfish, Archive, Fubar, The Stoliars, Ultimatum, Chris Talbot and Alfie Tobin.

While Lee has only been in the band for a 12 months and Dave has been in Expose for 37 years, both are equally excited about LinkFest.

"It was pouring with rain," said 52-year-old Dave, recalling the band's LinkFest debut last year.

"Sadly the weather was telling and it was not very well attended. We are praying for good weather this year. It is an outdoor festival and people are not going to come if the weather is bad.

"In a free festival people are making a choice on the day."

"We are just hoping everybody comes out and supports the festival," continued Dave, who lives in Hornchurch. "We don't get to play in Harlow a great deal. But we were at The Shark last week and it was a really good night. It was a really good response and we are hoping for the same again (at LinkFest) but with a bigger audience.

"It is an honour to have been asked to headline."

Dave, Expose's singer, is joined in the band by Peter Finch, who plays keyboard, Ben Newton, guitar, Alan Montague, bass, and Chris Brown, drums.

While the band play covers, they try not to pigeonhole their sound too much.

David said: "We are very much across the board, we are a mixture (of styles). It's more about audience participation and getting people jumping and singing.

"We are getting old now but we are still pulling the crowds in."

He added: "We have got a big festival weekend before, The Brentwood Festival, where the Boomtown Rats and ABC are playing.

"They will get a few thousand there, so hopefully a few will follow us to Harlow for the next week."

Hit Parade are something of a covers supergroup, with members having played at LinkFest before with other Harlow band Repertoire Dogs.

However 37-year-old Lee, who sings and plays guitar, is a LinkFest debutant and this will be the first official time the four-piece have rocked the Bandstand.

"We are very much looking forward to it," said Lee, who lives in Harlow. "It is a good cause and it's going to be a great day.

"We are gaining momentum (as a band). We play anything from 1960s to modern and from pop to heavy rock."

A typical set list could include anything from My Generation and See Me Feel Me by The Who to Shut Up and Dance with Me by Walk the Moon.

Hold Back the River by James Bay and Cake by the Ocean by DNCE are two of the songs recently added to their catalogue.

Lee is joined on stage by Lee Lewis on lead guitar, Steve Ayton on drums and Pete Harvey on bass.

"We update the set list for wherever we are playing," continued Lee. "We are able to adapt our set list and put a bit of a mix into it.

"Hit Parade has been formed for slightly more than a year. This is (our biggest show) in terms of the number of people to date.

"We have picked up good things on the way. We would like to carry on the way we are going. We have spent time and money promoting our music. I just hope to carry on enjoying it."

Part two of LinkFest 2016 is staged on Sunday, August 28 at the Bandstand with Are You Experienced - Jimi Hendrix Tribute headlining.

Both events will be held between 1pm and 8pm, with wedding band Me and Him hosting.

Heike displays the art of glass at new exhibition

A NEW cast glass sculpture exhibition at Parndon Mill Gallery does not have any signs saying 'do not touch'.

Viewers are encouraged to physically engage with the works of Heike Brachlow in her collection Chaos Theory which is at the gallery from Thursday, July 30 to Sunday, August 7.

Colour is an intrinsic part of Heike's work which has been presented at many museums around Europe.

This latest collection takes inspiration from science of surprises and the quirky shapes and colours reflect the theme of disorder. You can expect the unexpected.

Heike achieved a BA degree in glass in 2004 before attaining a masters in 2006 before a PHD in 2012 from the Royal College of Art in London.

She works as a self-employed artist from her studio at Parndon Mill.

Her work reflects her attraction to movement and transformation, both in colour and form.

The gallery is open from 10am to 5pm from Tuesday to Friday and from 2pm to 4pm on Sundays.

THE BIG FILM

SCREEN

Skarsgard swings into action

Tarzan's about to return to screens - but not quite as you've ever seen him before. True Blood star Alexander Skarsgard tells Susan Griffin why this retelling of the famous tale really appealed David Yates, the director of the final four Harry Potter movies, admits it was tough finding the right man to bring to life the title role in his latest movie, The Legend Of Tarzan.

"To find a really good actor with a really good body is actually really quite tricky," observes the 52-year-old.

"The Tarzan in my head was tall and vertical, had grace and poise, whereas Tarzan in the past felt really wide and square."

He adds, thankfully, that "pretty much after about five minutes thinking about it, Alex came to mind".

Ah yes, Alexander Skarsgard; the handsome, statuesque Swede, known to many as vampire Eric in the hit US series, True Blood.

Skarsgard, the son of River actor Stellan, might have the physical attributes to play the offspring of gentry, who's raised by apes after his family is marooned in the Congo, but he still found the preparation tough.

"I wanted to put on weight to begin with, so for three months, it was basically 7,000 calories a day and non-stop weightlifting to bulk up," explains the Stockholm-born 39-year-old, who now lives in New York and speaks with an American accent.

The actor also focused on flexibility and movement, in order to perfect Tarzan's physicality.

"I started doing a little more cardio and yoga and Pilates, and had the privilege of working with the choreographer Wayne McGregor. He's incredible but it was quite a challenge for him. He works with the best ballet dancers in the world, and I can't touch my toes."

In this version, the familiar origin story is turned on its head. Usually, the tale begins with Tarzan in the jungle and follows his return to his family's estate - "but I opened the script and page one is him, Tarzan, as John Clayton, drinking tea with the Prime Minister in London", said Skarsgard.

John, who's joined on the adventure by American George Washington Williams (Samuel L. Jackson) is invited by Belgium's King Leopold to return to the Congo, supposedly to see all the work that's been undertaken.

But it's a trap; he's actually being lured back by the King's treacherous envoy Leon Rom (Christoph Waltz), who intends to capture Tarzan and deliver him to an old enemy in exchange for a fortune in diamonds.

John's wife Jane, played by The Wolf Of Wall Street's Margot Robbie, accompanies him on the trip, but they're soon separated with Jane's held hostage by Rom.

LEGENDS: Samuel L. Jackson, Margot Robbie and Alexander Skarsgard

Skarsgard, who also starred in 2015's The Diary Of A Teenage Girl, Melancholia and What Maisie Knew, stresses: "She's not a damsel in distress. It's not about him saving her; he's not complete without her."

"The whole second act is basically them trying to get back together, so it's obviously crucial you're invested in this relationship. You have to believe in the love, because if you don't root for them to be together then we don't have a movie."

Skarsgard confesses he had concerns when told the film was to be shot in Watford, but thought the set was "incredible" once he saw it.

"They had two hangers, which were 200 metres long with real trees, bushes, a river running through, climate control so there was suddenly rain, and in the back lot they grew African grass and built a colonial town and a quarry."

Skarsgard is also set to star, alongside Paul Rudd, as a mute bartender who goes up against his city's gangsters in mystery-thriller Mute, and will soon be promoting new action-comedy War On Everyone with Michael Pena.

"I do love to escape from the business and civilisation in a way, so I went down to the South Pole a couple of years ago and sailed across the Atlantic and went to Greenland for a couple of months," he says, reflecting on how he balances work and downtime.

CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

COMEDY/ACTION/ROMANCE:
(CERT 12A) Running time 108 mins
Director: Rawson Marshall Thurber
Starring: Dwayne Johnson, Kevin Hart, Amy Ryan, Danielle Nicolet, Tim Griffin, Timothy John Smith, Thomas Kretschmann, Phil Reeves

Surprisingly sweet comedy

Underscored with a heartfelt anti-bullying message, Central Intelligence is a surprisingly sweet and goofy mismatched buddy comedy that might lack the quick-wittedness promised by its title but has good will in abundance.

Surprisingly, Dwayne Johnson is gifted the lion's share of the haphazard script's one-liners and physical pratfalls.

The wrestling superstar turned hulking action hero embraces his character's eccentricities with gusto, casting the typically hyperactive Kevin Hart as a relative straight man rather than the usual catalyst of on-screen tomfoolery.

Winning chemistry between the two leads galvanises Rawson Marshall Thurber's picture when gags fall flat or the plot's various bluffs and double-bluffs nudge the whole enterprise alarmingly close to preposterousness.

Gossamer thin romantic subplots are threaded very loosely around the subterfuge and outlandish spy games, culminating in a surprise final reel cameo that guarantees winning smiles all round as the end credits roll.

Calvin Joyner (Hart) was the golden boy of his high school in 1996, winning countless awards for his sporting prowess.

He proudly assumed the nickname Golden Jet and delighted classmates with his signature move: a backflip from a standing position.

In sharp contrast, overweight misfit Robbie Weir (Johnson) was bullied mercilessly by classmates and suffered the humiliation of being flung naked into the school gymnasium during an end of term student rally hosted by Principal Kent (Phil Reeves).

Twenty years later, Calvin is a humble accountant, who has married his sweetheart, Maggie (Danielle Nicolet).

Their high school reunion beckons and Calvin is reluctant to attend because he doesn't feel he has delivered on the promise of his formative years.

Out of the blue, Robbie reconnects with Calvin via social media and the two men bond over a couple of drinks.

It transpires that Robbie is a CIA agent, who may or may not be in possession of missile launch codes that are poised to be sold to a mysterious buyer (Thomas Kretschmann).

Rival CIA agent Pamela Harris (Amy Ryan) and her colleagues Mitchell (Tim Griffin) and Cooper (Timothy John Smith) recruit Calvin because they believe Robbie is a terrorist known as the Black Badger.

Torn between past and present, Calvin must deduce if he can trust Robbie or if he is being used as a pawn in a deadly conspiracy.

At a sprightly 108 minutes, Central Intelligence doesn't outstay its welcome, keeping us guessing about Robbie's true motives until the explosive final frames.

Thurber's script, co-written by Ike Barinholtz and David Stassen, punctuates the fractious banter with slow motion action sequences including a hilariously overblown chase around an open-plan office.

Oscar nominee Ryan keeps a straight face as madness swirls around her, as a single-minded career woman trapped in a world of misbehaving men.

The boundless, puppy dog energy of the film and its eager-to-please double-act ultimately proves irresistible.

RECIPE:

NORWEGIAN WAFFLES

INGREDIENTS:

4 eggs
200g granulated sugar
1 litre buttermilk
2 tsp bicarbonate of soda
500g plain flour

METHOD:

Melt the butter the set aside for 5 minutes to cool down slightly Place the eggs and sugar in a mixing bowl and whisk lightly by hand until well combined together but not fluffy. Inger-Anne told me not to use a mixer for this. For waffles you must do it by hand.
Add in the buttermilk, bicarbonate of soda and the melted butter and whisk to combine.
Then add in the flour in stages, approximately a third at a time and whisk again to combine so it is fully incorporated without any lumps. You then must leave the mix aside for 30 minutes to develop before starting to cook it.
To make the waffles, thoroughly pre-heat the waffle maker and brush with oil or cooking spray.
If you don't have a waffle iron these can of course be made in a frying pan like American pancakes or drop scones - you will miss out of the pretty pattern but the flavour will still be the same.
Cook them for around 2 minutes on each side over a medium-high heat. Once both sides are golden brown you can take them out and rest on a wire rack briefly before serving warm and eating with butter, jam and sour cream.

Velkommen til Norge!

DEAR reader, I'm in Norway. We are staying with our friends Inger-Anne, Jan-Erik, Astrid and Ingeborg, who live in Oslo.

When we lived in Cairo, my daughter Lily and Astrid were great friends and when I was planning a surprise trip for Lily to celebrate the end of her exams, it seemed the obvious choice.

I have visited Norway many years ago with my parents, but I that was a long time ago and I only had very vague memories of the place.

So we were delighted to arrive in Oslo to be met with glorious sunshine.

We managed to get ourselves on a train to Skøyen, where our friends lived. Norway is one of those countries where everyone seems to speak perfect English, which makes life very easy for British travellers.

It was incredibly easy to find our way around; the signs were in English and the dual-language announcements on the train meant there was no excuse to miss our stop.

We arrived on a beautiful day and it seemed that every stunningly beautiful Oslo resident was out in the city's green spaces or waterfront areas sunbathing, eating, drinking and generally having a whale of a time.

Our hosts prepared us a lovely buffet lunch and then offered to take us out on their little boat for a quick water-tour of Oslo, followed by coffee and cake at their little cabin on an island called Lindøya. It was a fairly easy decision!

The little cabin turned out to be a picture-perfect wooden house with a large garden and a gorgeous sea view, two bedrooms, small kitchen, lounge complete with woodburner, shower room and a technological marvel known as an electric toilet.

I honestly can't remember the last time I was so impressed by a toilet.

The coffee was top notch (as it always is in Norway I was to discover - no instant coffee granules in sight) and the cake was a pavlova covered with piles of fresh strawberries, raspberries and blueberries (Mmmmmmmmm - features ed.).

Lindøya was originally an escape for the workers in 1920s Oslo who would row over to the island and spend the summer in tents to escape the poor air quality of their working conditions.

Eventually, the city council allowed them to build wooden cabins on their plots and the structures have remained pretty much unchanged since that time.

There are no cars or bicycles allowed on the island, cabins are not allowed to be expanded or changed outside the original footprints and many of the owners are now third generation family members of the original owners. It was truly a magical day, topped off with a fantastic supper on the way home at a restaurant accessible only from the water, where I had a local 'fiskesuppe' or fish soup with crusty white bread and a very cold glass of wine. Heaven.

Another Norwegian speciality and a recipe I wanted to share with you is for 'sour milk waffles'.

It doesn't sound too appealing, but the sour milk is actually buttermilk, which lends a great flavour and fluffy texture to the waffle and these are such a traditionally Norwegian thing to eat I had to share it with you.

The other traditional Norwegian dishes I was looking at were lutefisk - which is white fish, often cod, which is dried and brined and then soaked in lye, which gives it a gelatinous texture. Or maybe hvalbiff, which was on the menu at the restaurant we ate in - whale meat served with boat potatoes and steamed vegetables.

I thought the waffles would be best!
The waffle mix smells lovely even before you cook it. Inger-Anne says for her it is the smell of childhood as they used to have these waffles all the time for any school events, festivals or perhaps at as a teatime treat at home.

Every Norwegian household has a waffle iron, but these could be made in a frying pan so don't let that stop you.

Serve these waffles with butter, strawberry or raspberry jam and sour cream. Or to be really traditional, you could try them with a bit of brunost - which is Norwegian brown cheese and is completely delicious.

Made with cows or goats milk, it is a soft-set cheese sold in a block with the same sort of texture as Port Salut. It tastes a lot better than it sounds, which is a delicate and slightly sweet flavour. If you come to Norway you must try it!

Served with coffee and always eaten with fingers, never a knife and fork, sharing and eating waffles is a big part of Norwegian food culture and one I was very happy to partake in. Have a go yourself for a brunch or teatime treat.

Drama is on track

HOPLEYS Garden Centre is proud to be part of an open air theatre venture currently touring the UK and Ireland.

This year marks Chapterhouse Theatre Company's 17th year of touring bringing to life some of literature's best loved classics in magical outdoor performances that are great fun for all the family.

On Saturday July 23, the theatre company will present the family favourite, The Railway Children, the unforgettable and heart-warming story that has delighted adults and children alike for generations.

The lives of three children are changed forever when their father disappears and the family have to relocate from the city to an isolated Yorkshire village.

E Nesbit's classic story follows the adventures of the children and how the discovery of the railway line and station brings them more than they could ever have imagined.

The story is played out against the beautiful setting of the Yorkshire Dales making it the perfect story for open air theatre.

Gates open for picnics at 5.45pm. Refreshments available.

Please take your own rugs or low-backed seating. Free parking via Hopleys main gate.

A raffle will be held in aid of local charity.

One to watch

An interview with designer Kit Miles, Homes & Gardens Young Designer of the Year 2016

When I first met Kit a few years ago, I immediately fell in love with his intensely detailed designs, drawn to a quality that would make him a botanical illustrator of the first water, and by his glorious use of colour.

I was impressed with his totally uncompromising approach to his work – most people, when just starting out, will bend to the wishes and ideas of others, but Kit has the confidence and conviction to plough his own furrow – and the charm to carry it off! His work will be influencing design trends for a long time to come.

Firstly, the basics: tell me your age, where you studied, where you're based and how long you've been in business

I'm 28 and I trained at Royal College of Art. My studio is in Wapping, though I'm moving soon to Angel at the northern edge of central London and my business is three years old.

Congratulations on your H&G Young Designer Award 2016. What do you think this will mean for you?

It's a fantastic opportunity for my young studio – we have seen a huge spike in press activity. It brings great responsibility to carry on pushing innovation, and this award has reminded me to always be committed to the innovative conceptual thoughts. We have only just revealed the tip of the iceberg!

That sounds exciting! I'm fascinated by the range of your designs – from intensely detailed, hyper-realistic natural forms to geometric designs. Where or from whom do you get your inspiration?

I'm interested in smashing aesthetics together and have always loved shock value next to more subtle things. It's really about trying to make a symphony of colour and forms that are complex and beautiful. My work has been described as 'Baroque for the 21st Century' and it is in many ways, but there's something misleading about that statement. It misses out all of the other influences, I think my studio is informed by film, literature, architecture and the sciences and all of that is poured into designing our collections.

What do you take into account when deciding which design makes it into the collection and which does not?

I ask myself a series of questions: Does it push it somehow, does it add to the narrative of the studio, does it have a place on my particular planet? I prefer to push things and explore many different realities, and then hone back if I need to. It's got to have excitement for me and a sense of awe and 'future regality'.

I'm particularly impressed with your colour combinations – do you work them out precisely using a method or is it instinctive?

I grew up in the suburbs and went to the country every summer to live with my grandparent for weeks and weeks. It was on those trips away where love for nature in all its facets came very much into being, that gave to me a curiosity and a passion for the natural world. At the heart of it all is a drive to represent a feeling and a moment through colour.

What's your process from inspiration to final product? How long does that take?

I don't really have a process, I just want a result. The company has a process of delivering a product but design is free and even accidental, and a process would be too formulaic for me. A new design can take anything from a few days to months and months. A new collaboration I have been working on has taken almost a year.

Where do you see yourself in the next 5 years?

I see the company's offering being rich and diverse and fully immersed in ways of 'seeing' the designs. We are embracing new technologies and are currently planning a very exciting series of futures-based projects which is a huge part of where I see the studio going.

The question will always be, how can we ask people to look anew and that will be through our retail collections. It's a very exciting time and I see the team growing fairly rapidly.

At the moment, we are three, and I also work with experts from different disciplines – my training at the RCA fostered a multidisciplinary approach which is really good at opening up new creative paths. So there will be some surprises for us all over the next few years.

What's next on the horizon?

I can't say much at the moment apart from we are working on some incredible hotels in the far east and in Europe. There are lots of great collaborations too so keep your eyes open, it's going to be another big year!

What advice would you give to an emerging designer looking to follow a similar path to you?

Buck the trend, throw caution to the wind, learn that 'NO' is by no means an answer, be kind, love fearlessly, lead, be passionate, be prepared to die for what you believe it, listen to others, embrace your vulnerability, be committed to building a new world and day dream regularly. Implement and repeat...

Wow – that is some philosophy! Given that intensity, how do you like to relax away from work?

I love to spend time with my family and friends in Gozo, eating feasts and dancing the nights away. I have been going since I was an 18-month-old and I find relaxing and inspiring.

So, as Kit himself says, keep an eye open for his designs over the coming years, they will always be worth looking at!

Tucked-away terrace with private garden

BELVOIR is delighted to offer for sale this three-bedroom family home tucked away in Park Hill, Old Harlow.

The property has a downstairs WC, fitted kitchen, large lounge/diner, three bedrooms and a wet room.

The property is not overlooked from the rear and has a garage en-bloc.

The hall has doors to the WC, kitchen and lounge, which has two patio doors to the rear and stairs to the landing.

The kitchen has a range of eye and low level units, roll top surfaces with tile splash back, integral oven and hob, extractor fan, sink, space for washing machine and fridge/freezer and a larder cupboard

Upstairs, the landing gives access to the loft, three bedrooms and bathroom, which has a low-level WC, sink with vanity units and electric shower.

■ The property is being marketed for £299,995 by Belvoir, 40 High Street, Old Harlow. Tel: 01279 426888.

Brimming with history

LADIES' Day at Royal Ascot this year had fashion commentators sniping about some of the weird and wacky headgear on the racetrack.

One race-goer turned up in a hat designed to look like a ram's head, complete with horns, while another wore a 2ft high giant rose-petal bonnet. Actress Anna Friel was even accused of wearing a dead pigeon on her head.

The annual June race meeting is famous for frivolous fashion, and designer David Shilling was one of the first to help women make a spectacle of themselves. His hats hit the headlines when he designed one for his mother Gertrude to wear to Royal Ascot when he was 12. The huge headpiece caused a sensation, got his parents on the front pages and Shilling kept up the tradition for more than 30 years until her death in 1999.

The founding father of modern millinery still creates expensive hats for high society ladies; he once displayed a collection of hats with a price tag of £1million each. But as demand has fallen over the last few decades, Shilling is more likely to be wielding a blowtorch than a needle these days, and lives in Monaco, creating specially commissioned steel sculptures.

He's now decided to sell his five-storey mid-terrace period house in London's Marylebone. With two bedrooms, three bathrooms, formal dining room and courtyard, the master bedroom on the top floor with en-suite shower room has direct access to the roof terrace through a domed skylight. It's on the market for £1.95m.

Yo! Get a space-age flat

YO! Sushi founder Simon Woodroffe designed the Live Aid stage at Wembley Stadium in 1985 after years working as a roadie and stage designer for Rod Stewart, the Moody Blues and Jethro Tull.

The restaurant entrepreneur went onto work in TV before sinking his £200,000 life savings into an idea for conveyor-belt sushi bars in 1997, which took off world-wide.

He's now set his sights on the property market with a concept for high-spec, pre-fab mini-homes as a way to give city dwellers more bang for their buck.

His firm YO! Home has submitted plans for 24 modular apartments aimed at young professionals in the up-and-coming New Islington area of Manchester.

Labelled as the ultimate space-saving apartment, the YO! Home squeezes a bed, kitchen, lounge, dining area and bathroom into a one-bedroom studio flat – but with clever space-saving ideas. Walls slide away with a gentle push, a dining room table appears from a compartment in the floor, and a plush king-size bed lowers from the ceiling. The flat is also full of under-floor storage.

Due to the swift construction process – the self-contained pods will be built off-site and then lifted on top of each other – the flats should go on the market later this year, with prices starting at £150,000.

Where Middlemarch was penned

WRITER George Eliot's famous quotation: "It's never too late to be what you might have been" – crops up frequently on Twitter and motivational speaking websites.

Her weighty novels were quite a lot longer than 140 characters but she shared some similarities with today's life coaches; Eliot wanted her words to instruct and enlighten, and mused over the moral impact she was having on readers.

Eliot – whose real name was Mary Ann Evans – used a male pen name so that she'd be taken seriously. She didn't want her books labelled light-hearted romances, and also wanted to shield her private life from public scrutiny.

Although seemingly a proper Victorian lady, Eliot lived with the married George Henry Lewes for more than 20 years. After a holiday together in Germany, the novelist found herself labelled a fallen woman and wasn't welcome in any respectable home, while several of her female friends were forbidden by their fathers from calling on her.

The author of Middlemarch and The Mill On The Floss lived in this house in Southfields, south London. Her former Grade II-listed Victorian home, with a blue plaque outside, is now up for rent at £1,373 per week.

Originally named Holly Lodge, she wrote many of her books there.

It's got five bedrooms, four reception rooms, roof terrace, 70ft garden and off-street parking.

Bond author's wartime city hideout

Jet-setter James Bond isn't often on home turf in Ian Fleming's novels, so readers looking for London settings have to make do with glimpses of St James's (his club), Regent's Park (his 'office') and King's Road (his apartment).

The exception is Moonraker, the third Bond novel, set entirely in England. While chasing Hugo Drax, a megalomaniac would-be dictator, arms manufacturer and card cheat, Bond gambles and drinks in St James's, meets assistant commissioner Vallance at Scotland Yard and prangs his vintage Bentley on the South Circular ring road.

The Moonraker villain lived in Belgravia's Ebury Street where there's a scene in the book – it's also where you'll find a blue plaque to the author who lived at 22b between 1936 and 1945, while working for Naval Intelligence during the war.

The former journalist used his wartime service for the background and detail of Bond's world, although he didn't publish the first book in the series – Casino Royale – until 1952.

Having bought the flat from fascist leader Oswald Mosley, Fleming led an elegant life of dinner parties with friends Noel Coward and Cyril Connolly, had love affairs and amassed a large collection of first editions and surrealist art.

His former home was built in 1830 as a Baptist church but was later divided into flats, where a one-bedroom furnished apartment is up for rent. On the first floor, it's got high ceilings and wood floors in the reception room and open-plan kitchen, and will cost you £595 per week.

TESTED Mazda MX-5 2.0 SE-L Nav

Robin Roberts

BRITAIN and sports cars go hand in driving glove, which explains the remarkable success of the Mazda MX-5.

Since its launch in 1989, the agile two-seater has been a remarkable success among UK buyers and the latest fourth generation of the iconic car, which has won numerous awards for styling and engineering, is undoubtedly one of the best.

Mazda has always kept to the original concept of a lightweight and lively convertible, ideal for weekends away or country road commuting, with an increasingly refined chassis beneath.

The newest series is more sharply styled than the previous rounded models but its shorter, lower and wider as well without sacrificing comfort or ability.

There are ten versions in the UK range, based on 131ps 1.5 or 160ps 2.0 four cylinder petrol engines, all with six-speed gearboxes, in five trim levels beginning at £18,500 and rising to £24,295.

The 2.0 SE-L Nav is one of the most popular in the series and brings added refinement if regularly doing longer motorway journeys. That said it also packs a punch for enjoying cross country A or B road trips and its unstressed nature means it is very economical.

The 2.0-litre engine gives excellent getaway performance and with 200Nm underfoot there is good urge through the gears with a flexibility which aids economy as well.

There is little but what is good engine noise, some road noise but really surprisingly little wind or other mechanical noises.

The short-throw and precise six-speed gearbox is a true delight as is the pleasantly progressive clutch, feelsome footbrake and smooth throttle pedal. Stalks and buttons are well placed to work secondary controls and even the roof can be dropped or raised without too much effort by a seated driver or passenger.

The small seats are surprisingly supporting and comfortable with good adjustment unless you are very tall.

Visibility is clear all round, slightly compromised when the canvas roof is raised, but wipers and lights do excellent jobs. I liked the simple instruments and the straightforward heating and ventilation system with powered windows as well.

Room is cosy with a 130 litres boot for a weekend holdall or some carrier bags and just a few bins and cubbies in the cabin.

The power from the 2.0-litre engine and the rear wheel drive layout with a comparatively short wheelbase makes for very agile handling with an easy a tendency to hang out its tail oversteering around a tight turn under power. It's all entirely predictable and safe, instantly coming back on line if you lift off mid-corner.

The way the Mazda MX-5 absorbs road shocks and bad surfaces is impressive for a sports car and only the worst came through to jar the occupants.

Body roll is well controlled on corners and you get the impression this is a car which would be very comfortable on a long journey despite its overall size.

It's not a grand tourer in the traditional sense, but it's a great tourer you'll want to keep driving, gloves or no gloves.

Our business is your future

Herts & Essex Media Group, part of Trinity Mirror, is the changing face of regional media. Through our trusted brands such as the Hertfordshire Mercury, Herts & Essex Observer and Harlow Star, online, in print, and on tablet and mobile, we are transforming our relationship with you.

We are transforming it to one marked by dynamism and immediacy, where anything and everything that is happening in your world is brought to you at the speed it happens. Your one stop destination. This makes our brand the go-to place for all things local... making local matter more.

We have some hugely exciting plans ahead this year, some of which will change the shape of our brands for ever, and we'd like you to join our growing family and be a part of this.

Media Sales Consultant (Telephone Sales) Starting salary dependent on experience + uncapped Bonus

Could you help grow advertising for three of the UK's best read local weekly newspapers and websites? We are looking for people with experience in a sales role who are confident, self-motivated and organised. Ideally you will come from a sales background with sound knowledge of the digital market as well as an understanding of media and newspaper industries. The ideal candidate will be ready to hit the ground running with sales presentations and pitches and will be eager to hit targets, working towards incentives in-house. You will be equally comfortable working on your own and as part of a team.

As a Media Sales Consultant, you will be required to build relationships with existing advertisers and secure new business while striving to meet and exceed targets. You will have an agreed customer base and territory which you will be required to grow and develop.

We offer ongoing training and support in addition to sales incentives. Candidates will need to demonstrate relevant sales experience and have knowledge of using Microsoft Office programmes (Windows, Excel, Outlook)

The Package

- 5 Weeks Holiday
- Company Pension scheme available*
- Healthcare Insurance*

Claire Petulengro YOUR STARS WITH

ARIES MARCH 21 - APRIL 20

Don't be put off your dreams by what others say. Follow your own feet and trust that you are moving in the right direction. A new area of your work opens up which makes your professional world a more flexible place to be. First dates and new introductions spark the beginning of something really special. Ring now so we can talk about your recent emotions.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 348 65p per minute

TAURUS APRIL 21 - MAY 21

I know you are not happy with the way that a close one has been leading such an independent life, but you are the one who gave the signal that this was not a problem. Talking to them on Tuesday or Thursday helps you find some common ground to build on. Talk is cheap on Friday though. Show your intentions by acting. Ring now to hear why you're feeling so nostalgic at the moment.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 349 65p per minute

GEMINI MAY 22 - JUNE 21

Your confidence is growing by the day, which is going to be great for your social life. Just make sure that you do not allow confidence to turn into arrogance or you will frighten away the very faces you are trying to impress. A new face in your career is not a threat, but holds the key to the career you long for. Ring now to hear why it's worth asking questions about current work changes.

CANCER JUNE 22 - JULY 22

Try not to act on rumours you hear this week, but allow the dramatic nature of those involved to settle first. There is a need for you to look after someone who is not feeling as strong as they should emotionally or physically. This helps you to get your own life into perspective. An obstacle you encountered financially is given a boost from news you hear midweek. Ring now for more predictions.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 351 65p per minute

LEO JULY 23 - AUGUST 23

Try not to leave things half done to go on to the next project or you are going to cast yourself as unprofessional. You know that pride is important to a sign such as you, so finish what you start. A tired mood this week could see you cancelling the very plans you should be throwing yourself into. Ring now to hear why love and romance have a cloak and dagger feel as you enter July.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 352 65p per minute

VIRGO AUGUST 24 - SEPTEMBER 22

Bravery is daring to try where others would not. I know you have what it takes to turn your wildest dreams into a reality, but first you have to convince yourself. Come on Virgo, take the first step and the next will come naturally. Take a moment to call up the person you've been neglecting. They have news which will prove they're stronger now. Ring now to hear about your incredible 2016.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 353 65p per minute

LIBRA SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23

A problem in the workplace makes it difficult for you to feel professional, but this is in fact your chance to shine Libra. Take the initiative and show you have what it takes to control what others can't. This is where last year's dramas pay off, as I know they taught you some really valuable lessons. Jealousy in love is your enemy. Ring now so I can help you gain perspective.

SCORPIO OCTOBER 24 - NOVEMBER 21

You will have realised by now that everything in life happens for a reason, but we don't always need to know what that reason is. Enjoy the surprises which fate will reveal and try not to let new faces too much about yourself too soon or you will take the pleasure out of what should be a productive process. Ring me right now to hear who thinks they control you.

SAGITTARIUS NOVEMBER 22 - DECEMBER 20

There are several work avenues which need your time and attention, but you seem to be more intent on starting fresh than you do trying to lose ends. Enjoy showing how good you are at finishing as well as starting things Sagittarius. Luck is on your side in love. You can afford to take chances and to say how you feel with confidence. Ring now and I'll tell you a secret.

CAPRICORN DECEMBER 21 - JANUARY 20

There is a far more settled feel to your chart than we have seen in weeks and this has much to do with your state of mind as it does what others have said or done to you. Truth be told, you still need to raise those standards Capricorn, as many of you have been aiming too low in the last year. Know you are worth supporting and loving and others will too. Ring now to talk life through with me.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 357 65p per minute

AQUARIUS JANUARY 21 - FEBRUARY 19

I can see that you want to make changes, but you are not sure where to start. This week gives you the chance to choose and to have an opinion, so avoid sticking your head in the sand. Family think they know more than they do about your personal life and may be casting opinions with no real base. Ring now to hear why I embrace you taking tests or doing exams at this time.

FOR WEEKLY AND MONTHLY READINGS CALL 0911 8532 358 65p per minute

PISCES FEBRUARY 20 - MARCH 20

I know you feel you are missing someone Pisces, but is them you are missing or what they represented, which is having someone to worry about and to worry about you. By Friday you get your answer and you take steps to make your life a more secure place to be. Give me a ring to hear how travel and career perks make this such an interesting year for you.

Young gymnasts go medal mad

THERE was medal joy for Taylah Andrews Clark, Halle Andrews Clark, Millie Upton and Chloe Ashall as they represented Essex and Harlow Gymnastics Club at the Regional Recreational Levels Final competition in Ipswich.

Gymnasts from Essex, Hertfordshire, Cambridgeshire, Norfolk, Bedfordshire and Suffolk qualified at their County Recreational levels competition to win a place at this prestigious event.

Competing in the Level Five age 16-18 event, St Marks student, Taylah Andrews Clark, 16, qualified for all four apparatus and brought home the gold medal on beam, silver medal on floor as well as placing fourth on asymmetric bars and sixth on vault.

Narrowly behind, twin sister, Halle Andrews Clark won bronze medals on asymmetric bars and floor, and placed sixth on beam and seventh on vault.

In the Level Five age 11-12 event, St Mark's student, Millie Upton, 12, was awarded the silver medal on asymmetric bars. Team-mates Sophia Huddart, 11, and Faye Andrews, 11, finished in seventh and eighth place respectively on floor.

Further medal joy in the Level

Four (age 12-14) saw Passmores student, Chloe Ashall, 13, win the bronze medal on asymmetric bars and placed fourth on beam and 14th on vault.

Saffron Hoskin, 12, placed seventh on beam, then Brooke Walker, 12, placed 11th on vault before April Fifield, 13, was 12th on floor in the same competition.

Katie Islin, ten, placed sixth on vault and 16th on floor in the Level Four age 10-11 event.

Coach Belinda Macintosh said: "We are so proud of all our gymnasts, they were a joy to watch, it was lovely to see Essex join forces and win so many medals."

Take Hart way into football

GARY HART has played under some top managers at Brighton & Hove Albion in the shape of Steve Coppell, Gus Poyet, Micky Adams and Peter Taylor.

And the Harlow-based retired professional footballer is now looking to find the next Gary Hart or Glenn Hoddle off the town's great conveyor belt of talent.

Hart, 39, who retired from the Seagulls in 2011 after scoring 80 goals in more than 370 appearances, has launched a soccer school with a difference specifically for Harlow youngsters at Churchgate Street playing fields, at the back of Churchgate Primary School.

With links to Brighton, Norwich, Swindon and Stevenage, Hart is specifically working on improving young players technically.

At present he has nearly 20 six- to 12-year-olds.

Hart, an FA Level Two coaching badge holder, got the idea for improving the technical side of footballers when he worked with Poyet when he managed the Championship club between 2009 and 2013.

He explained: "It's what I picked up at Brighton. Gus would say in an hour session a footballer should take 1000 touches. He always said we needed to work 40 minutes on the ball before training. We are working on shooting, first touch and ball control."

"You need to do the basics quicker. You need to learn to be quicker with your feet. That's the difference between the top and the bottom."

The sessions take place on Saturdays between 9.30am and 10.30am. For more details email Hart at harty9@hotmail.co.uk

Beth's on top of the Worlds

BETH HARRYMAN warmed up for next week's World Catholic Schools' Games in France with an exceptional display in a national competition.

The Harlow Athletic Club member competed for Essex Schools in the Combined Events Regional Championships.

She had to qualify for the Essex team in May by completing a pentathlon in a qualifying score.

She then went on to represent Essex in the East Anglian Regional Championships in Peterborough.

This was her first ever heptathlon and she scored 3816 points which qualified her to represent Essex in the English Schools National Championships to be held in Exeter in September.

Beth's mum Michelle said: "We are extremely proud of her as she produced five personal bests out of the seven events."

"She managed to knock ten seconds off her 800m time after completing all the other events." The team event was won by Essex who beat the other teams by nearly 2000 points.

Cricket washout

HARLOW Town's Division Two match against Hainault & Clayhall in the Shepherd Neame Essex League ended in a draw due to heavy rain on Saturday.

Their opponents mustered 104-3 when the rain came and the match was unable to be concluded.

Paul Morrell took 2-38.

Power to the Max as Harlow seal cup win

U15s triumph in West Essex Board final after thriller

By Alan Scott

HARLOW Cricket Club's U15 team won the West Essex District Board Cup final away to Dunmow after a 47-run victory.

On losing the toss Harlow were inserted with Max Baulcomb and John Tasker once again taking on the new ball.

Progress was steady with the Dunmow attack being reasonably cagey early on and runs coming at a steady pace.

John went first trying to force it for seven and the score on 35.

Reece Galvin came in and left the attacking to Max, who duly obliged as the rate gradually increased past halfway.

Max retired on 50, his fourth consecutive 50 for the U15s.

Reece and Thomas Smith-Hughes then set about giving Harlow a total to defend with some lusty blows and some vibrant running between the wickets.

The visitors' innings closed on 143-1 with Reece Galvin on 45 not out and Thomas on 15.

Jake Hikmatshah and Abbas Shah opened the bowling for Harlow.

Abbas was absolutely devastating and Dunmow had no answer to his pace and accuracy.

He took four of the first five wickets to fall for just 12 runs to set the game up for Harlow.

At 27-5, Max was able to get everyone into the game and with some great catching and ground fielding by everyone Harlow ran

Sam, Albie and Asad were all amongst the wickets as overs ran out.

"Another terrific performance by the lads who now go forward to the Essex County Cup proper," said club spokesman Martin Stopp.

Meanwhile, in the Shepherd Neame Essex League Division One, a brilliant 101 from 104 balls from Harlow's Mohammed Waqas proved in vain after a washout.

Rehman Ahmed's men posted 235 all out in 46.4 overs, but the game was abandoned against Fives & Heronians (29-1).

That was Waqas' final match for the club, as he is leaving.

The Harlow second team produced a near perfect performance against Fives and Heronians to pick up a much-needed 20 points to once again climb up to third place in the table.

Fives batted first and posted 128.

Lewis Aldred finished with 2-19.

Only Ross Summers (43 not out) really troubled the scorers.

In reply, Zabi Hakimi scored 79 not out as Harlow cantered to victory at 129-1, winning by nine wickets.

Hakimi's innings included four sixes.

Simon Jones (27 not out) finished the game off with a back foot punch through extra cover for four to top off what was, an excellent game for the visitors.

The Harlow third team's away match at Upminster was called off without a ball being bowled.

Harlow fourths returned to winning ways on Saturday with an emphatic victory over fourth-placed visitors Westcliff-on-Sea.

Conor Monk (58) helped Harlow amass 239 all out.

Harlow won by 171 runs.

Max Baulcomb (3-11) was top wicket-taker as Westcliff were skittled for 68.

The fifth team's match away to Stansted Hall & Elsenham II was also abandoned due to rain.

Stansted Hall & Elsenham scored 238-5. Harlow, in reply, were struggling at 79-4 when the rain forced the players off.

Giants Head a massive challenge for club's runners

THE Giants Head Marathon was the massive challenge for members of Harlow Running Club.

The hilly but beautiful course took competitors around the famous Cerne Giant, near Dorchester in Dorset.

Julia Gardiner was 39th out of 372 finishers and second female veteran 35 in 4hr 37min 49sec.

She was followed home by Sean Flynn 72nd and third vet 55 in 4:57:50.

Sandra Rust was 149th in 5:32:24.

Richard Smith came home 209th in 5:57:45 and Holly Nairn was 210th in the same time.

Meanwhile at the Ards Half Marathon in Northern Ireland, Andy Kinney was 475th out of 602 in 2:09:32.

The following day Kinney completed the Belfast Victoria parkrun 5K. He was 106th out of 256 in 26:24.

At the Ramsey 10K in Huntingdon, Cambridgeshire, Daniel Jephcott was 29th out of 279 in a personal best (PB) time for the distance of 40:25. Father Jamie was 31st in 40:35.

Jon Steadman competed in an off road and very hilly Quendon & Rickling 10K. He was 21st out of 90 in 47:15 and wife Vicky was 341st in 49:38.

At the Harlow parkrun 5K, Amanuel Tesfay, 17, won out of 149 in a fantastic 19:07.

He was followed by Andy

Terrell (4th in 20:29), Graham Saville (22nd and 3rd Vet 55 in 23:57), Paul Schroder (24th in 24:12), Saira Muschamp (32nd and 2nd female in 24:51 PB), Nicola Smith (37th in 25:14), Robin Lozeau (45th and 1st vet 60 in 26:04), Debbie Barry (53rd and 1st female vet 55 in 27:28), Louise Cootes (54th in 27:55), Austin Nyamande (59th in 28:31), Pushpa Mistry (71st in 30:54) and Mark Bellworthy (78th in 31:25).

At the Hatfield Forest parkrun

5K Martin McColgan was 58th out of 202 in 24:18, followed by David Page (76th in 25:27), Janice Page (87th in 26:21) and Terry Pike (90th in 26:35).

At the Gunpowder parkrun 5K in Waltham Abbey, Jamie Luck was 21st out of 151 in 22:11 and Joanne Mills was 84th and first female vet 65 in 29:29.

At the Margate parkrun 5K, Terry Ridge was fifth out of 59 in 21:39 and wife Catherine was 14th and first female in 23:13.

'I CAN'T WAIT FOR PREM CHALLENGE'

Cunningham says Hawks can mount promotion quest

By Alan Scott

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE dust has barely settled on Harlow Town's promotion-winning season but for chief executive Tom Cunningham August cannot come quick enough.

The Hawks finally achieved promotion to the Ryman Premier after narrowly missing out with play-off defeats in three of the last four years.

And former Leyton Orient defender Cunningham, 60, says the club will strengthen during the next month or so to make sure they are in a position to challenge for promotion next term.

He said: "We want to go in the Prem and we want to be challenging again. We don't want to be struggling like other clubs have done."

"The way we have grown. The club has got a chance now. It's nice to be in the position we are in from a business perspective, going into a bigger league."

Tribute

"Hopefully we can make our mark. I am really looking forward to next season."

Cunningham also paid a huge tribute to boss Danny Chapman and assistant manager Spencer Knight.

He said the pair had had to rebuild the team every season after missing out on promotion.

In Chapman's first season he lifted the club to a top-five finish and Harlow lost narrowly in the play-off semi-final to Wingate & Finchley, the club Cunningham used to co-own.

Heartbreaking play-off final and semi-final defeats to Witham Town and Thurrock in the last two years were erased when the Hawks defeated AFC Hornchurch in May in the play-off final in front of more than 1600 people in May.

"One of the most difficult things is Danny [Chapman] and Spencer [Knight] have had to build a side year after year."

"What they achieved this year and what we have done throughout the season, all of them will be back next year. There will be additions."

"We have got a number of players under contract now and it's the first year we have been able to do that."

"We are trying to secure the future and move forward in a way we can sustain it."

"If you look at our record against the top sides it has been very, very good."

Cunningham knows the signing of former Reading and Stoke City centre-half Ibrahima Sonko was a massive signing at the start of last season.

Sonko rejected a contract at Scottish Premier League Kilmarnock to stay at Harlow and help the club to promotion.

Cunningham said: "A special mention to Ibrahima Sonko. To play where he's played and to come here, and apply himself the way he has been exceptional. He's an exceptional human being."

"We have failed at times and we didn't win the league because we have not got the results away from home that perhaps we should have."

"But if you can guarantee promotion this is the way to do it [at home in the play-off final]."

"It's the second time I have been here and watched us win promotion on the final day and it's a great feeling."

"It's a massive achievement for the club. Hopefully the town will embrace what we are trying to achieve and we will get the numbers we saw [for the play-off final] next season."

Athletes are Brit special

THREE Harlow athletes competed in the British Championships at Birmingham at the weekend.

Harlow Athletic Club member Will Snook joined Alex Hill and Canaan Solomon in their respective 400m hurdles, 400m and 800m races.

All were sixth in their events, which doubled up as trials for the Great Britain team to compete at the Olympic Games in Rio de Janeiro.

Alex, 22, from Old Harlow, trains at Harlow AC but competes for Ware-based Herts Phoenix.

She finished sixth in her heat in a time of 61.83sec.

Will, 20, was sixth in his heat in a time of 49.02sec.

Both were trained and coached by the late Harlow AC coach Nat Fisher during their careers.

Proud

Harlow AC veteran and coach Dawn Jones said: "It was a great experience for both of them and if Nat was still with us he would have been extremely proud."

Harlow College student Canaan, 17, was carrying an Achilles injury but was neck and neck with GB Olympic runner Michael Rimmer until the last 100m when he slipped back.

He clocked 1min 52.17sec. Canaan, a member at Woodford Green with Essex Ladies AC, has now pulled out of trying to qualify for the World Juniors in Poland later this summer.

He has been invited to compete in the English Schools' Championships in Gateshead next month.

Canaan's main focus will now be next year's European Junior Championships.

Having breezed through his 800m heat at the British AAA Championships the previous week, the England physio ordered Canaan not to compete in the final due to an Achilles injury.

Canaan is now set to compete in the senior UK Inter-Counties Championships.
